Poetry.

Wasted Counsel.

BY R. W. EASTERBROOKS:

So John you're a goin' to be married, I hear.
Eh? take some tobacco! well, wimmen is queer,
And pesky provokin' sometimes; but I find,
In the long run of life, men are seldom behind.

Now there's my old woman—that's her—Polly Drake;
I thought her an angel dropped here by mistake,
Until I'd been married a month when, I swan,
I wished see'd been dropped a few rods further on!

How was it? Wall, little by little, you see,
I come to know Polly and she to know me,
And neither was pleased with the other. The light
So perfect in courtship, with marriage grows bright.

And shows up the flaws in our pictures so plain
That we itch to return them to shadows again
But the gallery's bolted, and husband and wife,
Alone with each other, are out, and for life.

Wall, it ain't because either is wuss than they were,
That she haggles with him, and he imitates her,
But only that both are themselves—and appear
As humans—not latter day Jobs. Now come here

And I'll tell you a secret worth knowin': you see
We've jogged along pleasant like, Polly and me,
For forty odd year—and, deny it who may—
In timss like the, present, that's su'thing to say.

The way that I fixed it was this: when at first
I found that my angel was comin' to dust,
I raved, (a bad habit I've tried to correct).
And Polly got flustered—what could you expect?

And the way she pitched into me then (with her tongue)
Was cur'us to witness. "Now, John, you are young,
But remember this fact, and then heed it with sense,
The tongue is a woman's sole means of defense."

And of course she has learn't how to use it; but then
It is easily stopped with a kiss—Wall! and when
She finally quit with a sob and a sneeze,
I slunk to the barn-yard as meek as you please

And thought the thing over; sez I, "Eben Drake
You've shown yourself simpleton now—no mistake."
For I measured myself, and I found that for me
To scold at the woman that Polly could be

Was wuss than the toad's finding fault with the hare.
And this is the bargain I made then and there:
"I'll leave her alone till I see plain and true,
Thet I am the wisest and best of the two."

So, as every one Knows we're a peaceable pair,
And the rock all young fellers like you should beware,
Is that of forgetting that women like men,
Is likely to falter, and drop now and then.

Now Ruth is as good as the average. Pshaw!
Don't look so disgusted! 'tis true as the law.
That some time you'll find she is human, and mourn
—Of course—now I've got the sermon—he's gone.

Selected Story.

A Day as a Hackman.

"Heigh ho, McGreer! What in the world are you swearing about so furiously?" I asked, entering the livery stable of the above named person, amid a volley of oaths that might have shocked his Satanic majesty.

"On! good morning," replied the man; "excuse me, Mr. Morris. I was talking rather too strong, perhaps; but the fact is I am in a desperate strait! You see, Mr. Elmore's horses are both sick, and he wants me to let him have my best span and coach immediately. Well, the dapples are the best, and, to my eye, better than his own; but there's not a man belonging to my stables dare drive them but Cary, and he is down with the fever. The other horses are all out or engaged, and I don't known what the—"

"There, there," said I, "no oaths. I have nothing on hand, and really believe I should like to play hackman for a day in New York."

"Surely, Mr. Morris, you are joking," ejaculated the man, in amazement.

"No; I am in earnest," for the idea was so novel, that I, a lover of adventure, became every moment more determined to try it.

"I am in earnest, Mr. McGreer, say no more about it. You know I can manage anything. Just have them hitched up, and give me the livery coat and hat. Now, leave me in the office for a moment —but stop! don't let the men know who I am, and by the way—I almost forgot it —have our team sent around in about an hour."

Left alone, I proceeded to alter my appearance as much as possible, assuming the habiliments of a driver. I made a first rate Irishman of the higher grade. The metamorphosis was hardly completed when Mr. McGreer entered.

"Mr. Mor—"

"Michael, ye mane," I interrupted; "sure there's no reason that I should be cheated out of a name." We both laughed, and I received congratulations upon making a good son of Erin.

Stepping out of the office, I mounted the box, gathered up the reins and was off. The horses were unusually gay, but I had them in good trim by the time I stopped before Mr. Elmore's residence. It may be well to state, Grace Elmore was not the least inducement for assuming my present position. All winter she had been a dream-idol of mine, or rather half a one, for I could not really decide which I preferred, Grace or Maude de Morris, a young French lady, who was spending the winter in New York with her parents. Both were bewitching, and I embraced every opportunity of being with either.

Springing from the box, I rang the bell, and presently assisted Miss Elmore and her two friends into the carriage.

The day was warm for March, and the four windows were open—Grace sitting on the seat nearest me.

"Round the pleasant streets, driver. Anywhere for a ride," she said.

We started, and for a quarter of an hour the ladies's chit-chat was of no account to me, when suddenly Miss Fannie exclaimed:

"By the way, Grace, rumor says you are engaged to George Morris, and the solitaire on your fore-finger appears to confirm it."

"Rumor honors me," was the reply.

"Now, Grace," chimed in the third lady, "stop your nonsense, and tell us candidly, are you engaged?"

"Well, I'm arraigned before a court for some terrible crime, and commanded to answer, guilty or not guilty?—is that it?" was the half laughing, half annoyed respose.

"No," replied the third lady, "only to gratify friendly curiosity."

"Well, the truth is, I am not at liberty to say all I wish; but this much I will acknowledge—the ring you mentioned did once belong to George Morris."

Was there ever such an abominable falsehood told, every word of which is true? I thought angrily, as I heard the comments upon my money, person, parents, etc. That girl had led them to suppose that we were engaged, and there is a ring to prove it—a ring she took from me in sport, a few evenings since, and which I intended to recover upon our next meeting. Well, there is one thing certain, Grace Elmore will never be my wife. I could not trust such a schemer. My resolution was strengthened when I heard her say in confidential undertones, to the one lady, Miss Fannie having left at her own house:

"I have, of course, no feelings in the matter, only a school girl's love; but I think that George would make a most desirable husband, while his wealth, with my own, will place us above any change of fortune. Then he is very handsome, and I have decided to take him. I don't know that I could do much better."

"Pity I have not arrived at a similar conclusion," was my mental sarcasm.

Just them she called affectionately, "home, driver."

Willingly did I place her on the carriage steps and then turn toward the stables.

"By Jove! I wish I could have as good a chance to try Maude de Morris," I ejaculated, as I drove up to my station. McGreer was waiting for me. There was a gray-haired gentleman with him, but McGreer stepped aside and asked me if I objected to going further, at the same time overpowering me with thanks; and saying if the horses were cooled down he could give them to some one else.

"No, no," I replied quickly, for I was desirous of learning more of humanity, "I will keep my place for the present; send me where you choose." Turning to the gentleman, GcGreer bowed and said, "Mr. Lancey, this carriage is at your disposal."

In Mr. Lancey I recognized a worthy merchat, though not well known in higher circles, his means placing him only with those who were in very good circumstances.

"Where?" I asked, as he entered the carriage.

"To——street, north side."

A quiet, easy little place it proved to be—a three story brick, new and handsome, though lacking elegance. Here the gentleman alighted, returning in a short time, accompanied by a young girl of, I should judge, some nineteen years, whom he addressed as Maggie. Her rich brown hair was curled ueatly at the back of her head, and the soft violet looking hazel eyes were the most enchanting that ever met my gaze. Peering from under my hat, I noted every article of dress of the neatly robed little fairy. "Drive to the Park," was the gentleman's direction, as I again took up the reins.

I listened eagerly for every sound within, feeling half ashamed of the part I was playing, though too deeply interested in the lady to desist.

Presently a clear and sweet voice asked:

"Well, father dear, what have you to say that you require such strict privacy?"

"My child, I—I fear you are not brave enough to hear it! Oh! merciful Heaven if I could only spare my darling!"

An eager loving voice replied:

"Father! father! surely one so young and strong, with such deep love for you, can bear a great deal; and sorrow will not be so heavy when shared with me. Now that mother has no power to comfort you except through memory, let me take her precious place as best I can. Tell me all, father, I am stronger than you think."

Then followed a long explanation, which may be summed up in a very few words. Their voices were often drowned in the outer bustle, but I heard sufficient to understand that Mr. Lancey, who was doing a very heavy business, had, several months previous, taken a partner, who proved to be an inveterate speculator, and without the knowledge of Mr. Lancey, had involved the firm to the amount of several thousand dollars. The investments could amount to nothing in less than a year; meanwhile debts previously incurred fell due and were pressed by creditors. Mr. Lancey ended by saying:

"Unless I get some assistance between this and Monday night, Tuesday night will find us penniless. Oh, my child! if I could but save you! How can you bear such a change!"

And I heard the heavy sobs of that strong man come thick and fast. There were a few drops in my own eyes, for I could not see the horses for a moment. I fancied loving arms around his neck, and a pale, soft cheek against his own, as the words I had to lean down to catch came in a clear, brave voice from the noblest heart that beat 'neath Heaven.

"Father, do not think of me; all that I have is yours, and many private articles will bring considerable. Do not shrink from selling every thing to pay an honest debt. I can bear all things so that love is left. Surely, I may not complain if it all be taken, if Heaven leaves me my father. Do your best and trust me for all the assistance in my power. I can bear all things so long as love is left."

Much followed, but this was all I cared to hear, and by the time we drove up before the neat house in——street, I fairly worshipped the brown haired angel who resided there.

For the last fifteen minutes I had been contriving a plan to assist them. In my pocket was a check for three hundred dollars, drawn that morning for the purpose of settling a small account.

My name was on it in full, and as I opened the carriage door I cast it to the wind, which took it to the pavement. At first neither noticed it, and I feared that I had been foiled, but just as I was mounting the box, Maggie picked it up, and turned hurridly to her father. I drove off wondering how it would end.

Reaching the stables, I threw the reins to the hostler, and entering the office told McGreer the horses could be driven by a baby; disposed of my masquerade, and went home, not to dream of Grace and Maude, as usual, but of the noble woman who "could bear all things, so long as love was left."

The next morning I saw in the Herald a notice which read as follows:

"If Mr. George T. Morris will call at No 4 North——street, he will recover lost property."

It was just what I wanted, and about ten o'clock I called at the place above named, receiving the check from my queen, together with an explanation of how it came into her possession. I asked if her father was at home. He was not. Would she give me his place of business?

"Certainly."

Taking a card from the stand she traced neatly the address, and bowing I left her to seek the merchant.

"Mr. Larcey, I am George Morris. Will you grant me a private interview?"

"With pleasure."

Seated at the inner office, I told him all the last day's proceedings that concerned himself, offering any pecuniary assistance he might permit me to render. After some urging on my part, he accepted, and grasping my hand, thanked me again for saving his child, saying Heaven would repay me.

And it has, most munificently; for not six months passed ere Maggie Lancy possessed the solataire which Grace Elmore had worn so proudly and falsely. I have secured the greatest treasure earth can give—a woman who "can bear all thing's so long as love is left."

Now two hazel eyes are peering over my shoulder, while a happy voice exclaims:

"Why, George, you foolish old darling, no one will be interested in that but yourself."

Is my little wife correct?

Dying Words of Great Men.

Dying words present an ample field for thought, not only to the biographer and historian, but to every one of us. Let us listen, in imagination, to the last words of a few great characters. We follow to a prison the heathen saint, Socrates. calmly and serenely he awaits the hour when he shall fall a martyr for truth. His friends weep and lament that he should suffer unjustly. "Rejoice that I die innocent," is his reply, and ere he drank the fatal cup, exclaimed: "Sacrifice to the Gods," and calmly expired.

The great Ceaser appears. He holds his head proudly and gazes majestically around him. Daggers are concealed—a signal—the attack is made. He turns and looks with inexpressible agony on one who pierced him, and with a voice full of emotion exclaimed, "and thou too Brutus!" Then folding his mantel about him, at the foot of Pompey's statue, "Great Ceaser fell."

Look at the proud and aspiring Wolsey, the magnificence of whose state was even the pride of his King. He fell, like Lucifer, and we hear him cry, "And so farewell, a long farewell to all my greatness," and in his dying hour, "Had I but served my God, with half the zeal I served my King, He would not have left me in my old age, naked to my enemies."

"Lord however thou disposest of me, do good to this people. Give them consistency of judgement, one heart and mental love, and with the work of reformation, go on to deliver them, and make the name of Christ, glorious in the world." So said Oliver Crömwell, that mighty man, when the chill hand of death pressed heavily upon his brow.

Goethe, the untiring student of truth, expired exclaiming, "Light, more light!"

We stop to glance at the wit of France, the renowned Rabelais, "Drop the curtain, the farce has played out!"

The polished and facticious Chesterfield proved the "ruling passion strong in death," his last command was, "Give Dayrolleo a chair."

How characteristic the last words of the great Pitt. Broken hearted by the news of the Amistice, after the battle of Austerlitz, he died, crying, "My country, oh! my country!"

Perhaps no great national hero has closed the mortal strife with a more enobling testimony than Nelson, whose name and fame will live as long as England shall endure. His last intelligible words were, "Thank God! I have done my duty."

Who does not love to call to remembrance the dying words of the venerable Bishop Hughes? Calmly and sweetly his sun of life went down, softly the shadows from the lone valley fell around him, as the last moment drew near, with serene voice and radient eye, he exclaimed, "Bury me in the sunshine!"

E. CITY, May 25, 1871. M. L. P.

Touching Incident of William Wirt.

There is one touching incident in the life of William Wirt. In his younger days he was a victim to that passion for intoxicating drinks which seems peculiarly the bane of the legal profession. Affianced to a beautiful and accomplished young woman, he had made and broken repeated pledges of amendment, and she, after patiently and kindly enduring his disgraceful habit, had at length dismissed him, deeming him incorrigible. Their next meeting, after his dismissal, was in a public street of the city of Richmond. William Wirt lay drunk and asleep on the sidewalk, on a hot summer day, the rays of the sun pouring down on his uncovered head, and the flies crawling over his swollen features. As the young lady approached in her walk, her attention was attracted by the spetacle, strange to her eyes, but, als! so common to others who knew the victim, as to attract little remark. She did not at first recognize the sleeper, and was about to hasten on, when she was led by one of those impulses which form the turning points in human lives, to scrutinize his features. What was her emotion when she recognized in him her discarded lover! She drew forth her handkerchief and carefully spread it over his face, and hurried away. When Wirt came to himself he found the handkerchief, and in one corner the initials of the beloved name. With a heart alost breaking with grief and remorse, he made a new vow of reformation. He kept that vow, and he married the owner of that hankerchief. Well might he preserve the handkerchief, as he did, all his life, guarding it with the jealous care with which Othello kept the Egyptian charmer's gift, and "making it a darling like his precious eye."

The St. Louis Republican evidently does not believe that there will be any efficacy in the grand panacea which Mr. Vallandigham has prescribed for the many ills that afflict the moribund Democracy, for it tells him that he has survived his time, and that the sooner he subsides, the sooner will he have recognized the prevalence of a conservatism in politics which has kept him in private life since an early period of the war for the Union.

The Carolinas and the North-West.

Whilst a continual stream of immigration is pouring into the Northwest, the equally inviting regions of the South are neglected, both by Europeans and Northern men. This results to a great extent from a want of accurate information concerning the resources and advantages of our section of the Union. If these could be understood and appreciated abroad, there is very little doubt that we should have an influx of population which would fill up our country and develop its wealth.

It is said that figures do not lie. At any rate we presume that official intelligence carefully collected by the agents of the government is reliable. From an examination of the statistical tables embodied in the Report of the Commissioner of Agriculture for 1869, we are satisfied that the resources of our section as an agricultural region are not fully understood. To illustrate what we mean we propose now to make a comparison between the Carolinas and three Northwestern States lying in a body together, viz: Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Taking the articles of corn, wheat, rye, oats, barley, buckwheat, potatoes, tobacco and hay as a basis of comparison, we have the following statement of the value per acre of the productions in the States mentioned for the year 1869.

	Average value per acre.
North Carolina	15.75
South Carolina	16.07
Wisconsin	13.71
Minnesota	13.02
Iowa	13.04

That the correctness of this result may not be doubted we give more in detail the value per acre of some of the principal crops in the State mentioned.

	Corn,	Wheat,	Oats,	Potatoes,	Hay.
N. Carolina,	14,80	12,85	9,81	59,20	17,43
S. Carolina,	16,24	13,76	10,26	79,80	29,16
Wisconsin,	17,16	10,40	14,48	55,64	15,22
Minnesota,	18,33	9,61	15,75	80,64	13,33
Iowa,	16,60	6,76	13,05	65,73	14,32

Look at the column headed "Wheat," and note the figures. One acre of Carolina wheat was worth in 1869, (averaging the two States) $13,32 whilst an average acre in the three Northwestern States was worth $8,92—a difference in favor of the former of fifty per cent.

But the reader must observe that the above comparison has regard to those productions of the farm to which the Northwest is peculiarly adapted. If we bring the tobacco of North Carolina into the comparison we find its average value per acre to be $69,29, and we state it as a fact which cannot be denied that one-half of the States of North and South Carolina and especially the former are adapted to tobacco culture. Again the cotton crop is not mentioned in the comparison. The average production of the Carolinas in cotton the past year is estimated as follows by the Department. North Carolina 175 lbs per acre. South Carolina at 160 lbs per acre. Estimating this to be worth about 14 cts. per lb., we have as the result, an average acre of Carolina cotton $24,15 There are no crops in the North with which we can fairly compare the tobacco and cotton crops. We have thought it best, however, not to omit these as they are really two of the most important of our money crops. It costs but little more to cultivate an acre of corn. The difference in the value is several dollars in favor of the cotton. This, however, would be absorded in the expenses of picking and the cost of fertilizers, so that corn is with us as about as good a market crop as cotton in years when the latter rules low, as at present.

Of course, we do not contend for as great fertility in our soils as in those of the Northwest, but we are much nearer the great Eastern markets, and our facilities for manuring are excellent. Moreover our climate is such that we pass the Winter without loss of time on account of cold, and the cost of fuel is a mere trifle in comparison with its cost in the States of the Northwest. Again we have left out of the comparison the extraordinary adaptation of our section to trucking, which has now become the most profitable kind of farming. Our latitude enables us to produce vegetables a month earlier than they can be produced in the open air, east of Baltimore, and excellent means of transportation are already provided. We have steamers and railroads by which we can place the production of our gardens in Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York in about twentp-four to thirty hours. There is no section we know of more inviting to truck gaowers than Eastern North Carolina, and the day is not distant when this section of our Stute, especially along the great highways of travel and rapid tiansportation, will be densely settled with this most useful class of producers.

A Wyoming Farmer's Talk.

At a recent meeting of the New York Farmer's Club a Mr. Trotham from Vermont had said something about his want of success at farming, when a man having the aspect of John the Baptist and a voice like one crying in the wilderness, arose and asked the Chair if he could have just three minutes in which to knock the hind sights off that Vermont feller. The Chair gave him his three minutes, and, with the war-whoop of his tribe, he sprang to the center of the circle. "My name," he cried, "my name is John B. Wolf, and I live at the foot of the Rocky Mountains, and I have come here to see the other big Indians and to have a grand pow-wow about giving up all our public lands to fat corporations. I see that you have men even here that speak against farming. I'll tell you what's the matter with that good looking young man from the Green Mountains that spoke a minute ago. I won't say he is lazy, but probably he is possessed of a constitutional diathesis antagonistic to sweat—and that's what's the matter with him! [Thunders of applause.] I tell you, if farming don't pay it's the farmer that's wrong. I can make money farming anywhere—yes, even in Vermont—if my sheep couldn't push their noses between the stones to get the grass, I'd whittle their noses off till they could! I never saw a 50-acre patch of God's green earth where a man must starve, no matter how hard he works. I left cities and their greed and wickedness years ago went right to the green prairies of glorious Kansas, and the first year I made $500. The next year I lost some money, but the year following I made $1,000, but I worked. No man can take $1,000 off a raw prairie farm and sit in the shade all the year. Then I got a fighting with the Border ruffians, and for a year neglected my crop; then I moved to the Rocky Mountains, and have prospered ever since. See these pictures: this is my boy, he made $4,000 last year a farming. He has no constitutional diathesis antagonistic to sweat! Here is another boy of mine, he made $1,000, and can do it again. Here is my daughter; she is a farmer too, and can go out and make a furrow as straight, I dare say, as any man in this Club; she can cook, too, and sing, and ride a horse equal to anybody. Now, Mr. Green-Mountain man, that don't believe in farming, are you satisfied?

Colored Population of the Country.

A statement of the colored population returned at the Census Office, including an estimate for four counties yet incomplete, makes the aggregate number in all the States and Territories about 4,857,000, being a gain of nine and thirty-five-hundredths per cent, over 1860. The States and Territories stand in the following order in respect to the numbers of the colored population: Georgia, Virginia, Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina, North Carolina, Louisiana, Tennessee, Kentucky, Texas, Maryland, Arkansas, Missouri, Florida, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, District of Columbia, New-Jersey, Illinois, Indiana, Delaware, West Virginia, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Connecticut, Iowa, Rhode Island, California, Wisconsin, Maine, Vermont, Nebraska, Minnesota, New-Hampshire, Nevada, Oregon, Colorado, Washington, Wyoming and Montana. The number is equal in Mew-Mexico, Utah, Dakota, Idaho and Arizona.

The favorite romance of office seekers —Put yourself in his place.

The most useful thing, after all, in the "long run"—Breath.

A spoiled child—the one that played with the kerosene lamp.

Why is a false friend like the letter P? Because it's the first in pity and the last in help.

The Chicago Tribune plaintively says: "In comparatively few years the quail and the prairie chicken will be a matter of history." It is to be hoped they will die game.

A gentleman asked a little girl what it was that made a person feel so when another tickled him. "I suppose it's the laugh creeping over him," was the instant reply.

"Whenever," said Madame de Stael, "I see Mr. B., I feel the same pleasure that I receize from looking at a fond couple—he and his self-love live so hapily together.

May not the appearance of a colored boy in the House of Representatives at Washington, in the capacity of page, be termed, without offense, "a dark page in American history."

A Syracuse contemporary notes as a local fact that a man who was shot a few days ago is "still alive, and the opinion of his doctors is, that he will remain in that condition until death."

A man who was annoyed by clerks in the custom house was advised to complain to the collector, which he did, saying: "Sir, I have been abused here by some of the rascals in this place, and I came to tell you of it, as I understand you are the principal!"

William McDairmid, though now nearly 90, still works at his case on The Cincinnati Times and Chronicle, having been on The Times for a quarter of a century. He set up a number of Walter Scott's poems and parts of his novels from the original MS. when he lived in Edinburg long ago.

The Philadelphia Press asserts that Pennsylvania is now as strongly Republican as ever, and that with a good ticket in Philadelphia and an active canvass, that party will carry the State in October by a large majority, and make it certain for Grant next year by a larger vote than it gave him in 1868.

A physician in Vermont was recently thrown from his carriage, breaking one of his legs. A lady hearing of the accident remarked: "I am glad of it! Every doctor ought to meet with such an accident once in a while, so that he can hear an occasional groan from a patient without laughing at it!"

A young minister whose reputation for veracity was not very good, one day ventured to differ with an old doctor of divinity as to the efficacy of the use of the rod. "Why," said he, "the only time my father ever whipped me it was for telling truth." "Well," retorted the doctor, "it cured you of it, didn't it?"

A learned bishop once said to a clergyman who had asked him why he was so often silent when he had so much to say that was worth saying: "I talked as much as anybody when I was young, and said a great many foolish things that I have been sorry for. I have never been sorry for anything I did not say."

A Pennsylvanian recently asked one of the striking miners how they managed to live so long without working, and the Miner's Journal says the reply was; "Ye, see, when we don't work, we live as we used to live in Ireland, and when we do work, we live like Americans, and that's jest the explanation of how we get along at all."

There is a man in Glen's Falls, New York, who wont believe any stories about the sagacity of dogs. He says dogs have not common sense. In proof of his assertion he relates how he poured kerosene on a dog and set it on fire just to have a little fun, and that dog actually ran under the barn belonging to him, and lay there and set the barn on fire, though the man whistled to him to come out."

The Louisville Ledger, the organ of the extreme Democrats, says that as four Kentucky Judges have decided to admit negro testimony, and as the United States Supreme Court would certainly sustain these decisions, whether the State Court of Appeals reverses or affirms them, negro testimony may be put aside in Kentucky as a dead issue, and one which need no longer be discussed with a view to any action of the State Legislature for its adjustment.

The Virginia City (Nevada) Enterprise, of the 9th inst., reiterates its assertion that the Steamboat Springs have dried up, and says that not only is there no water to be seen where huge volumes of hot water were wont to boil and bubble and spurt, but no steam is to be seen where formerly it rushed up in vast columns from holes and crevices in the rocks. The hot spring at the Bowers Mansion west of Washoe Lake, and five miles from Steamboat Springs, has also ceased to flow.

THE "LAW" OF THE MATTER.

Some of the Convention shriekers are exposing their own ignorance, or their duplicity by presuming upon the ignorance of the people, by declaring the Convention movement perfectly consistent with the Constitution, attempting to prove it by quoting from the 3rd section of Article 1;

"That the people of this State have the inherent, sole and exclusive right of regulating the internal Government and police thereof, and of altering and abolishing their Constitution and form of government whenever it may be neccessary to their safety and happiness."

They usually quote this much of the section and then stop. Let us conclude it.

"But every such right should be exercised in pursuance of law and consistently with the Constitution of the United States."

Here another question is raised—what is the "law?" The Constitution is the organic law—the supreme law of the State. Its framers—the representatives of the people—provided a way in which it may be altered or amended. That provision—the law—is found in section 2nd of Article XIII, and is in these words:

"No part of the Constitution of this State shall be altered, unless a bill to alter the same shall have been read three times in each House of the General Assembly and agreed to by three fifths of the whole number of members of each House, respectively; nor shall any alteration take place until the bill, so agreed to, shall have been published six months previous to a new election of members to the General Assembly. If, after such publication, the alteration proposed by the preceeding General Assembly shall be agreed to, in the first session thereafter, by two thirds of the whole representatives in each House of the General Assembly, after the same shall have been read three times or three several days in each House, then the said General Assembly shall prescribe a mode by which the amendment may be submitted to the qualified voters of the State; and if upon comparing the voters given in the whole State, it shall appear that a majority of the voters voting thereon have approved thereof, then and not other wise, the same shall become a part of the Constitution."

This is the law. It is clear, plain, emphatic. Checks and safe guards were wisely thrown around the organic law in order to prevent its being overturned or changed by the caprice of mere partisan majorities. The best interests, nay the safety of the people required this. As to the Convention, the law is equally clear and explicit. See section 1st of Article XIII.

"No Convention of the people shall be called by the General Assembly unless by the concurence of two thirds of all the members of each House of the General Assembly."

Does this need any comment? Is it not clear that the Democratic majority of the Legislature passed the Convention bill in direct violation of the law?

CAN'T ESCAPE THE RECORD.

At last certain leaders of the Northern Democracy are beginning to cry out "let by-gones be by-gones." This is all very well, but what are the motives actuating them? During the war they made a record. It is not forgotten. They did what they could to embarrass the Government and they have been resisting every step of progress since. The result has been to drive and keep them out of office and power. They are getting weary of this. Having been out so long they are exceedingly anxious to get in. Among these are VALLANDIGHAM and his special friends. They see no other chance for success than that of pretending acquiescence in the accomplished results of the cause they so malignantly opposed, and hence they now acknowledge that Democracy, as they have interpreted it for the past twelve years, is not the party of the times: that it needs the infusion of new principles in order to give it a chance of becoming acceptable to the people.

So far as these gentlemen are concerned they have made this discovery too late. Their course has not been forgotten. From their record they cannot escape. In the words of the Tribune:

A generation must pass over before the thinking men of this land will hold it proper to intrust the interests of the country to hands that did their evil utmost to destroy it. We are told that when Hercules found his stolen shirt beginning to scorch him he cried out lustily enough for by-gones to be by-gones. But he could not seperate himself from that clinging punishment—nor can Mr. Vallandigham and men of his kind ever escape from the record they made in the days that drew the line between patriots and traitors.

At any rate these men must produce something better than the husks of empty professions before they can expect to make any appreciable advance in public confidence.

The Pennsylvania Democracy have held their State Convention. On reading their proceedings we have been forced to the conclusion that the leaders have been studying the Darwinian theory and have resolved to attempt the experiment of making the leopard change his spots. Hitherto, like Lot's wife, they have always been looking back, but after a sore experiment of long continued defeat they have made a tremenduous effort to turn their faces forward, dropping "worn out" issues, recognizing "the actual situation" and "resolving" henceforth to treat the colored man as an American citizen. Years ago we predicted that they would be compelled to do this. Our prediction has been verified in this year of grace 1872.

On Friday last another coal mine disaster occurred at Pittston, Pa., resulting in the death of near thirty miners.

A DEMOCRATIC FORGERY.

We still see the following going the rounds of the Democratic papers purporting to be an extract from a speech recently delivered by Gen. SHERMAN at New Orleans.

GEN SHERMAN ON THE KU-KLUX.

"I probably have as good means of information as most persons in regard to what is called the Ku Klux, and am perfectly satisfied that the thing is greatly over-estimated; and if the Ku-Klux bills were kept out of Congress, and the army kept at their legitimate duties, there are enough good and true men in the Southern States to put down all KuKlux or other bands of marauders."

The above is a forgery. Gen SHERMAN never uttered the language attributed to him. He repudiates it in toto. In an address delivered at New Orleans, April 22 he refers to the forgery as follows:

WHAT GEN. SHERMAN DOES SAY.

Mr. President, I am not much of a speaker; my forte is action, not speechmaking. I do not wish my remarks this evening to be reported in the newspapers, for I see what I said on the occasion of another reception extended to me since my arrival has been entirely misrepresented and I am credited with words I did not utter at all. I therefore hope there are no reporters here to serve this pleasant interview as they served the other to which I have alluded.

"My duty as the Commander of the Army of the country keeps me employed in military matters, and by that employment I may be enabled to assist the nation in its civil and political interests, but I do not wish to be considered a politician. I strive as well as I can to do what my official duty compels, and in doing that I find myself amply employed. I do not seek any civil position whatever, and do not wish to be suspected of doing so. Indeed, I should positively decline any offer of a civil or political position. I mean to devote my whole time in the future to the study of the military art, not with the view of destroying, but as a means of promoting the good of all, even the lowest classes of society."

THE STATE DEBT AUGUMENT.

We proved, in an article in our last issue, that the argument in favor of a Convention—to change the Constitution to get rid of our State debt—fell to the ground because it came in conflict with the Constitution of the United States. The attempt would not only be dishonorable but illegal.

Our State debt is large. We do not believe that near all of it was honestly incurred. We further believe that it could be compromised on terms that would relieve the State at least one half and at the same time be satisfactory to its creditors. Our Senator introduced a bill last winter for the appointment of a committee, empowering it with authority to make arrangements with the bond holders for the settlement of their claims on terms as favorable as possible. Had his plan, which was feasible, been adopted a compromise could have been made that would have relieved our Stat's indebtedness at least one half. We feel confident of this. The terms would have been honorable to the State and satisfactory to those holding claims against it. But no, the Democracy would not consent to this. They were afraid any such arrangement would deprive them of party capital in this canvas. Hence they voted our Senator down because they wanted this State debt question as a hobby to ride on before the people to induce them to vote for a Convention They care much less about the State debt than they do for the partisans measures they have in view through a Convention.

Col. T. R. MANLEVE, an ex-Confederate soldier and Democratic editor in Texas, thus gives his reason for abandoning the Democratic and joining the Republican party:

"Time and experience have forced the conviction upon my mind that Democracy has ceased to be. No longer animated by those patriotic impulses which, in other and happier days, achieved so much in liberty's behalf, its constituted leaders have prostituted the cardinal principles of Republican government in a mad scramble for place and power, and, oblivious to the solemn truth that the appeal to arms has been made and lost, still strive to invoke from a dead nation's tomb the shadowy phantoms of an irrevocable past.

Republicanism, on the other hand, meets the living issues of the time in which we live. Though not free from blemish in its long lease of power, it binds itself indissolubly to truth and duty, espouses as its own the interests of a suffering humanity everywhere, and bids defiance to all the powers of the universe to sever it from civil and religious freedom. Permitting the dead past to bury the dead,' it looks with unfaltering trust to the future, wherein its grand mission is to be accomplished and peace and liberty become the portion of all.

Our readers are aware that our late townsman K. R. COBB, Esq., has been appointed Supervisor of Internal Revenue for Texas. By the following, from the National Index, published at Tyler, Texas, it will be seen that, as in every other place he filled, he is doing his duty:

Mr. Kenneth R. Cobb, the recently appointed Supervisor of Internal Revenue for the State of Texas, has been in our city for the past week, loooking after the interest of the government. We have watched the new Supervisor very closely while in the court room during the trial of several criminals, who had been arraigned at this term of the Federal Court of violations of the Revenue laws, and while we are satisfied Mr. Cobb desires to see the laws faithfully executed, we see nothing malicious or vindictive in his conduct.

The department has certainly made a very judicious change in the removal of the drunken sot, Bridgland, who acted in that capacity, for the past eighteen months, and the appointment of Mr Cobb, an intelligent gentleman, who understands thoroughly the Revenue laws, and is a sober, energetic business man, doing a credit to the government and an honor to the position which he fills.

The Democratic Doctors of Ohio do not agree. VALLANDIGHAM has one platform for Montgomery county, and CAMPBELL has another for Butler county. The Columbus Statesman asserts that the Democracy of the "Buck eye State" has accepted the Fifteenth Amendment from the outset in good faith; and the Cincinnatti Enquirer says that the same Democracy believe that the Constitution was altered by fraud and force and do not intend to be mealy-mouthed in their expression of the outrage.

New Books, Periodicals &c., &c.

HARPERS MAGAZINE for June is on our table. It opens with a satrical poem entitled "General Average," by William Allen Butler, the author of "Nothing to Wear," describing the conflict in the adjustment of an average bond between a great mercantile house in South-st., and an overcunning German Israelite. The tricks of trade are hit off to a lively tune in the poetry, which is well supported by the comico-tragico humor of the pictorial illustrations. In the succeeding paper, Col. T. B. Thorpe devotes his graphic pen to a revelation of the mysteries of the "New-York Custom House," speaking a good word in behalf of the venerable restablishment, and showing that the devil is not so black as he is painted. Several curious anecdotes are related to illustrate the ingenious processes by which well-dressed smugglers are in the habit of defrauding the revenue. In the close of his paper, Col. Thorpe maintains that the integrity of custom-house officials compares most favorably with the defalcations of prominent officers of our moneyed institutions, and that although they are poorly paid and hold their places by uncertain tenure, they do efficient work, are entitled to honor aad esteem for their public service and undoubted integrity A fresh paper by Porte Crayon describing "The Excursion to Watkins Glen" will be cordially greeted by the many admires of his pen and pencil. In "Short Trips to Europe," Mr. W. C. Prime shows the tourist how great an amount of agreeable sight-seeing may be accomplished in the leisure of a brief summer vacation.

THE JOURNAL OF JOHN WOOLMAN. With an Introduction, by John G. Whittier. Boston: James R. Osgood & Co. 1871.

This is the book whose simplicity and charm were so warmly acknowledged by Charles Lamb, which William Ellery Channing pronounced to be "the purest and sweetest autobiography in the language," which Edward Irving called "a godsend," which Henry Crabb Robinson termed "a perfect gem," and its style one of "the most exquisite purity and grace," and whose author a leading British review declared to be "the man who, in all the centuries since the advent of Christ, lived nearest to the Divine pattern."

An appreciative introduction is written by the great Quaker Poet of New England—John G. Whittier. After reading it one comes to the perusal of the exquisitely simple narative of the meek, yet earnest and consistent author, with his mind fully prepared to take in all its significance and beauty. As the record of self denying effort now more than a century old, it has a special interest to the student of his country's history; as an early chapter in the annals of a great cause, it deserves the attention of the social reformer and the philosophical inquirer, and as the outpouring of a spirit full of pure and noble enthusiasm, it cannot fail to have an elevating and refining influence upon the mind of every reader.

LIPPINCOTT—the leading Philadelphia Magazine—for June is a splendid number. This number opens with an original story by "Ouida," It begins well. A lively article on "Shopping in Paris," relates the discomfitures of an American woman among the tempting displays of the Boulevards and the Rue Vivienne, enforcing the lesson that a smiling face is not always the sign of an honest nature, and that the best houses in those haunts of fashion do not scruple to add to their lawful gains by all kinds of cheating. "The Freedmen's Bureau" is a paper of great interest, describing the operations of that office which have made its history so large a part of our national record for the last few years. The details are given at length, showing its beneficent action both in the work of education and of charity, and in adjusting the relations between the emancipated slaves and their former masters. A paper on "Professor Lowell as a Critic," is a piece of plausible special pleading against the eminent position assigned by the American and English public to that distinguished scholar and writer, and suggested, as the author confesses, by a "sense of grievance," similar, we suppose, to that which inspired the Athenian who was tired of hearing Aristides called the Just. "Our Monthly Gossip" has a decided stamp of realism, in its admirable descriptions of the late Carnival in Rome, and of a modern levee in Holyrood Palace.

The Phrenological Journal for June is a bright specimen, ever vigorous, lively, and abreast of the times; it contains sketches, on John Simmons, Founder of the Woman's College; Pursuits requiring strength; How my future was revealed to me; Man, his Orgin and Development; Equal Pay for Equal Labor; Mixed Marriages—Jews and Christians; The man about Town; Taste and Economy in Dress; Food for Thinkers and Workers; In the Mammoth Cave; J. M. Hutchings, of Yosemite Valley; Criminals, how to Treat and Reform Them; The means and the object of Education; My Captivity among the Indians; The Traveller. With portraits and other illustrations—Price 30 cts. The July Number Commences a new volume, so that the present is the time to subscribe, $3 a year.

Proffered Information.

W, F. COLLEGE, Forestville, N. C.,
MAY, 25, 1871.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

We notice, in the "Local and Personal" column of your paper, issued May 18th, the following: "Modesty asks what is the best method of popping the question? It is a good deal like Champaigne—if it dont pop itself there is something wrong about it."

We would like to give "Modesty" a little more information on that subject, through the columns of your paper, if you can spare the space, which we think would be highly beneficial to him, and be equally as interesting to many more of your readers, who are in the same predicament—wish to ask their "beloved ones" to have them, and do not know how to do it.

Please insert this in your paper so that "Modesty" may see it, and inform us as to the publication of our information which we propose to gives as soon as possible, in order that we may prepare to give said information.

Very truly yours,
STUDENT.

[For the benefit of "Modesty" and other modest young men we are willing that "Student" shall have a hearing. He may have learned something at College, and can possibly speak from the "book of experience."—ED.]

United States Senate.

On the 22nd in the Senate Mr. Sumner denied that he had made any such speech as was ascribed to him by the New York Herald of Saturday. Resolutions were offered to release the incarcerated journalists who surreptitiously got possessions of the treaty, but were not acted on. The Senate then went into Executiye Session to consider the treaty. Vice President COLFAX was taken very ill from vertigo.

On the 23d a communication was received from the Vice-President, announcing that he did not expect to preside over the Senate during the remainder of the Session, and Mr. Anthony, of Rhode Island, was elected President pro tem. The Senate went into Executive Session on the treaty in preference to considering Mr. Sumner's motion to release the obstinate journalists. The session continued five hours, and the time was occupied mainly by Mr. Casserly, in opposition.

On the 24th a memorial of claims against the Government of Venezuela, to the amount of $250,000, for losses to the claimants from the failure of that Government to fulfill its obligations connected with the construction of the railroad from Caracas to Palare, was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations. The Senate went into Executive Session on the treaty. After speeches by several Senators, the treaty was ratified, by a vote of 50 to 12, at 11 o'clock.

On the 25th the Senate Select Committee on the premature publication of the treaty reported to that body Mr. Tinker and Mr. J. A. Kirby, of the Washington telegraph office, in contempt for refusing to answer questions put to them by the Committee. The testimony taken was submitted with this report. After debate the report was laid on the table by 33 to 11. Mr. Wilson's resolution to release White and Ramsdell was withdrawn, Mr. Sherman offering a substitute, setting forth that, no proof appearing that any Senator or employe of the Senate was in any way connected with the pubtication, the Select Committee be discharged from further codsideration of the subject, and the prisoners be discharged. A debate followed, in which a general eclaircissement, relating to the origin of the investigation, was made. No action was taken on the resolution, and the Senate, at 6:20 P. M., adjourned till to-day.

On the 26th the Senate before going into Executive Session, spent some time in discussing the resolution for the discharge of the refractory witnesses, White and Ramsdell at the close of the session, but did not reach a vote on the question.

On the 27th the Senate after some further discussion, adopted the resolution discharging Messrs. White and Ramsdell from custody at the close of the session by a vote of 23 to 18. The proviso that this action should not interfere with legal proceedings against them was rejected—20 to 16. The Senate subsequently adjourned sine die.

Europe.

From the papers of the 23rd we learn that wounded and fugitive Communists have been compelled to return to the city by the German commanders. Dombrowski was reported captured by the Versaillists, and recaptured by his own men, and by the latest advices was said to be surrounded, with his command, near Saint Ouen. M. Rochefort had prepared for flight to Brussels, but was arrested, and narrowly escaped lynching at Versailles. Marshal McMahon's head-quarters are at the new Opera-house, and Gen. Clissey's, whose forces entered from the south, at the Ecole Militaire- M. Thiers, yesterday, congratulated the Assembly on the success, which he declared to be unexpected by at least three days.

From the papers of the 24th we learn that at 1 P. M. the flag of Versailles was planted on the height of MontMartre, where the most formidable stand was made by the insurgents. The attack began at daybreak and the fire of musketry and cannon was incessant until the insurgedts were routed. There was sharp fighting at the barricades in the Pluce de la Concorde and the Place de Clichy. The enthusiasm among the delivered population of Paris is said to be great. The battalions of the friends of order are reorganiziong. M. Assy is in custody, and it is reported that M. Felix Pyat has also been arrested. Gen. Dombrowski was wounded, and endeavored to make his escape, but was prevented by the Prussians. The insurgents made no attempt to break the Prussian line of encirclement. The Prussian troops were ordered to fire on them if they approached within four hundred paces. The German authorities notified the Commune that they would bombard Paris if the residence of the American Minister were sacked.

In the British House of Commons, on Monday night, an amendment to the Army bill, affecting the sale of commission, was rejected, the Government being supported by a majority of 39. In the House of Lords a bill enabling Canada to create provinces from her new territory was read a second time. Earl Granville acknowledged the receipt of indemnity for the colliers sunk in the Seine by the Prussians.

In the Spanish Cortes, on Monday, a long and excited debate arose on a resolution for the establishment of a republic, introdduced by Radicals, and one declaring the election of King Amadeus void and Don Carlos the rightful King, offered by the Carlists. No vote was taked.

From the papers of the 25th we learn that the disappointed Communists are wreaking their vengeance on the public edifics and historical buildings of Paris. The Palace of the Tuileries is said to be entirely destroyed by fire, and the Louvre was burning, with a hope remaining that the magnificent galleries of art might yet be saved. The Palaces of the Legion of Honor and of the Council of State had been fired, and other edifices were said to be in flames. An explosion occurred at 1. P. M., near the centre of the city, believed to have been caused by blowing up the Hotel de Ville. Fighting from behind barricades was continued yesterday by the insurgents, but the forces of the Assembly steadily advanced from position to position, and the Federals were believed to be endeavoring to escape toward Belleville and Pantin. The Communal authorities, in reply to Gen. Fabrice's demand for the surrender of the Nationals implicated in the attack on Mr. Washburne's residence, replied that they had ordered that the Embassy be held inviolate, and on hearing of the attack had ordered a Court-martial; but, as the guilty ones fled and could not be found, all they could do was to express the sorrow and indignation felt. The London Times regards the settlement of the Alabama claims, as proposed in the Treaty of Washington, as honorable to England, and declares the objects of both countries realized in its provisions, and both countries have practically ratified it.

From the papers of the 26th we learn that two Communist leaders of prominence, Raoul and Rigault, were tried by drum-head Court-martial and shot yesterday. A member of the Belgian Government declared officially in the Chamber yesterday, that Communists who escape into Belgium will not be treated as political refugees. The Italian Deputies are still discussing the financial measures of the Government, which are creating serious dissensions. The Greek Chamber has voted 10,000 livres as compensation to the widow of Mr. Lloyd, who was murdered by brigands at Marathon. The Czar will be present at the triumphal entry of the German Army into Berlin, June 11. The bill to incorporate Alsace and Lorraine has been recommitted in the German Parliament, it being unsatisfactory to Prince Bismarck, who threatened to withdraw the measure and resign unless the amendments to the bill were expunged. Negotiations are said to be in progress for the ceding of Heligoland to Germany by Great Britain.

From the papers of the 27th we learn that a Versailles dispatch says no quarter is given by the victors, and even sympathizers with the insurgents are shot at once. The same dispatch says Communists, disguised as firemen, under pretense of extinguishing the flames, poured pails of petroleum on the burning buildings. The following public buildings have been destroyed: The palace of the Tuileries, the Ministry of Finance, the Prefecture of Police, the Court of Accounts, the Palace of the Legion of Honor, the Barracks on the Quay d'Orsay, the Hotel de Ville, and the Mont de Piete. The following have been saved: The Ministries of Marine, Interior, Foreign Affairs, and Agriculture; the Pantheon, the Ecole Militaire, the Ecole des Beaux-Arts, the Bank of France, the Credit Foncier, and the churches generally. The collections in the Louvre have all been saved except the library, in which a great many valuable books were destroyed. The National Library and the grand livres are safe. Marshal McMahon has sent to the insurgents a last summons to surrender, in which he says that all who may be hereafter captured with arms in their hands will be shot.

From the papers of the 29th we learn that the last position held by the insurgents of Paris was taken by the Government forces, including Les Buttes Chaumont, Menilmontant and the Cemetery of Pere-la-Chaise. The prison of La Roquette, to which the hostages held by the Communists had been removed, was also captured on Saturday and 169 of the captives rescued; but the Archbishop of of Paris, the Abbe Duguerry, and sixty-two others, had already been shot by the insurgents. Mr. Washburne's dispatch confirms this horrible story. A telegram of last evening, from Versailles, announced the complete suppression of the insurrection, and not one band of insurgents remains. There are many prisoners in the hands of the troops.

Last evening the city was quiet, and not a shot had been heard since 10 A. M. The flames were under control, but the city is filled with smoke from the ruins. A thousand prisoners have been taken by the Prussians at Romainville, among them many armed women. The French troops are said to have shot down men, women and children with arms in their hands. There is joy in the city over the termination of the struggle. A Court-martial for the trial of insurgents will commence its sittings today, and dispatches have been sent to foreign Powers, requesting that the fugitives be extradited as criminals.

General Summary.

Halifax county delighteth in a calf that was born without eyeballs. In all other respects the animal is well formed.

For fifteen years, daily almost without exception, a Stamford, Conn., man has sat on a fence near the depot, and watched every railroad train as it passed.

A whole family were poisoned in Louisville lately from eating cream puffs made in a copper vessel, supposed to have not been properly cleaned of the verdigris that accumulates in them when neglected.

The civil war in Panama has ended by the conclusion of a definite peace. One of the insurgent leaders, however, refuses to lay down his arms owing to a misunderstanding with his associates.

A Pennsylvania man has just received, by express, $2,300 from an anonymous Pittsburger, who simply says that by right it belongs to him. The Pennsylvanian is willing to accept more and ask no clearer explanations.

Mark M. Pomeroy, better known as "Brick" Pomeroy, has been married to Mrs. Louisa M. Thomas, who had been previously contributing to his paper over the signature of "Ormion." It will be recollected that Pomeroy was divorced from his former wife a few weeks ago.

Rulloff's remains were buried in an unoccupied lot owned by a physician in the old cemetery in Binghamton on Friday evening week and the Republican says that the physician got possession of the head as a consideration for permitting the burial of the body in his lot.

In Iowa City a prospective child was pledged to a creditor to cancel a debt, should the offspring be a boy. The baby proves to be a boy, and the creditor demands him on contract. The mother refuses, and the creditor has brought suit for the child.

A recent Honolulu paper speaks of the spread of leprosy in and around that city, and mentions one noteworthy case, that of a witness in the Supreme Court, whose occupation was that of a fish-dealer and sometimes a meat-butcher. Think of such a person furnishing food to the healthy!

Central American advices to May 11 represent that President Duenas and Gen. Martinez, of Nicaragua, were still in prison, and might possibly be shot, the former having been indicted for peculation while in office. In Costa Rica and Gautemala the normal condition of revolt prevailed.

The Pennsylvania Democracy have nominated for Auditor-General, Gen. William McCandless, and for Surveyor-General, Capt. James M. Cooper. Resolutions were passed denouncing the resuscitation of dead issues, and recognizing the validity of the Constitutional amendments.

The Columbia (S. C.,) Union hears a rumor that counter organization are forming in that State to meet the Kuklux at their own game, and, deprecating such a course, it appeals to the influential Democrats and Conservatives of the State, to use their personal influence to put a stop to the scenes of blood and murder, before it is too late.

Advices from Hayti state that the new Ministry has been dissolved through dissensions. A financial crisis is expected and a loan to the Government is improbable. All males between eighteen and sixty are to be impressed into the army. The City of St. Pierre has been declared in a state of siege. A great Catholic revival is in progress in Trinidad, in consequence of reported miracles by an image of the Virgin.

More fires are reported from various sections of the country. A cotton-mill was nearly destroyed in Norwich, Conn. A factory in Delaware, Ohio, was also damaged to the extent of $50,000. The Exchange Hotel, in Alliance, Ohio, was burned down. A flouring-mill near Newark, Ohio, was destroyed, and other destructive fires occurred in other parts of the West. A bank and several buildings were destroyed at Providence, R. I. Damage, $80,000.

The Savannah (Ga,) Republican of May 21 says that the want of backbone among the Democracy of the North is doing more to render the South (by which it means the Southern Democrats) wholly indifferent to Federal affairs, than all other influences combined. It complains that they are evidently afraid of their antagonists, and by their whole course have induced the belief that they would submit to any outrage rather than take the responsibility of resisting it. And it declares that this servile tone must be changed before the Southern Democrats can be induced to co-operate with any heart in the next Presidential election.

Mr. Colfax has published an article in the Independent on "How to be Happy." We judge that the Vice-President is as capable as any man in the country of exposing this secret. He is one of the public men who seems never to have had a thorn in his pillow. The heavens, the United States, and his native Indiana seem to have combined to thrust happiness upon him, and to bear him into a smooth-flowing and peaceful fame. His recipe for being happy should therefore be something like this: Inherit a good brain and an equable temper, marry a good wife, be a sound Republican, go to Congress and become Speaker, get on the ticket with a good candidate and be elected Vice President, be successful and virtuous and you will be happy.

The Toledo (Ohio) Blade tells a curious story of how Mr. John M. Wigton, now of that city, has just recovered possession of a school-book which he threw aside in this City thirty-eight years ago. It says that, fearing punishment for failure in preparing a lesson while at school here, in 1833, he told a friend who was engaged in shipping, of his apprehension, and at his suggestion to leave the school and make a voyage in a coasting schooner he was about to send to sea, he threw aside his books, and thought no more of them until a short time since, when a friend entered his office with one of them. It was among the contents of a box that was being shipped from some point west of there to a paper-mill in New York. The box had burst open in handling, and as it was being transferred to a car at the depot in Toledo, this book dropped out. Picking it up the friend recognized the name written on the cover, and took it to him.

Soon after the close of the rebellion, a large number of Southerners who embraced the "lost cause," embittered by the result of the war, determined to emigrate. Two colonies were formed—one in Mexico, and the other in Brazil. The fate of these colonies is almost identical. After years of suffering and privation, those who could, came back to the United States, glad to return with life. From Brazil, many were sent back at the expense of the Government, and a few—either ashamed to return, or unwilling to acknowledge their mistake—still drag out a miserable existence in the lands of their penance rather than adoption. The experience of the Brazilian colony has been the hardest and saddest. Most of those who remain in Rio de Janeiro are reduced to beggary. One of these emigrants, who had been an influential man in the South, a prominent politician, and Mayor of his native city, sells bad spirits to thieves in low groggeries. The fate of these emigrants cannot but awaken general sympathy in their favor.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects. They are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequaled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the System in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist, there is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

THE LITTLE STEAM MILL.—

The subscribers having purchased the Mill lately owned by Griffin & White, at the Long Bridge, E. City, announce to the public that we have thoroughly repaired the machinery of said mill and are prepared to do all kinds of work in our line. We understand this Mill has had a good reputation for grinding wheat. With our experience in milling we hope to be able to merit and obtain a full share of patronage.

P.S. Cash paid for grain. Wood bought and sold.

A WEEKLY [illegible]WSPAPER IN

The Ri[illegible] Spot.

DONN PIATT and GE[illegible] ALFRED TOWNSEND will begin the publicati[illegible] of a new literary weekly paper to be called T[illegible] Capital, at the city of Washington, March 1[illegible] 1871.

A handsome folio n[illegible]spaper of thirty-two columns, printed in ne[illegible]ype, with a new engraved title head, and [illegible]asional illustrations. The entire contents are [illegible] be original and written by the acutest obse[illegible]rs and most trenchant writers of the day.

Not a paper for th[illegible]old party fogies, but adapted to the intellect[illegible] requirements of our period in the considerati[illegible]n of public men and questions aggressively [illegible]dependent, and always seeking out the qua[illegible]t, the rare, the individual, and the literary aspects of politics; in short The organ of the [illegible]tter populace. It will contain the associated Pr[illegible]s telegrams up to the hour of going to press, [illegible]nd the latest public and local items. Special f[illegible]tures will be original stories upon episodes, loc[illegible]lities and phenomena at the National capital, society topics at Washington, Keen and trenchant correspondence from the large cities and the State Capitols, absolutely independent notes, editorials and biographies stiring to the the hour, and fresh ballads and poems. During the year the Capital will contain vivid description of every national institution and bureau in the United States, noting the idiosyncrasies and imperfections of the same. It will endeavor dilligently to be the private citizens reporter at the seat of government.

THIS WEEK'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

We call attention to the following new advertisements in this issue.

Properties for sale.
Hoffin & Co.
The Alexenia House.
Court Notice.

Local and Personal.

Growing rapidly—the corn.

A. T. Kettle sang in town last evening. The music was appreciated.

His Honor Judge POOL is holding Court at Camden this week.

Sunflowers, though not popular for boquets, absorb malaria. Let them grow therefore.

Just four feet high—our Oats. Who can beat it?

Dr. BUTT has broken ground for the foundation of his new house.

The next annual meeting of the Chowan Baptist Association will be held at this place.

The Williamsport (Pa.,) Bulletin boasts that Wheat is out in head in that vicinity. They are cutting it in this.

Our "erratic friend" Senator SPEED repeated his rambling Convention speech at Camden on Monday last.

The County Commissioners destroyed Thirty-five Thousand Dollars of cancelled and paid County Orders on Monday.

Time is money. Do not lose it by going a distance for what you can buy nearer home. Patronize local traders—especially those who advertise.

The young man who has not done a day's work for "lo these many years," says he finds a great deal of competition in his business.

How much money could be made by buying some people at their own price, and selling them at the price the public puts on them? Answer——000.

We hear of a chap in a neighboring village who, through mistake, took a drink from a bottle of mucilage. He says he has felt "stuck up" ever since.

Our Devil overheard some wretch thus slandering the "old girls." He said some of them are like old muskets—they use a good deal of powder but will not go off!

Some people are very fond of practical jokes, when they can get them off at the expense of others, but when the shoe gets on the other foot they do not relish it quite so well.

The Democrats of Camden held a Convention meeting at the Court House on Monday. An attempt was made to nominate a candidate but it failed. Several speeches were made.

If along about this time any of our patrons are visited by some good looking men who inquire somewhat anxiously about the condition of their finances, and the houses and land and other property they may safely conclude it is Assessors who are on the look up.

We call special attention to the valuable properties advertised in this issue of the NORTH CAROLINIAN by E. H. BAILY, of Jamesville, this State. Jamesville is situated in Martin county and is one of the most enterprizing little towns in Eastern Carolina.

Truth will ever be unpalatable to those who are determined not to relinquish error, but can never give offense to the honest and well meaning; for the plain-dealing remonstrances of a friend differ as widely from the rancor of an enemy, as the friendly probe of a physician from the dagger of an assassin.

Two years ago our mechanics were out of employment—had nothing to do. To-day they are all at work—not one of them idle. Indeed if you want a job done you are obliged to make an engagement a week or two ahead. A healthy indication.

We have been solicited by various parties to become a candidate for the Convention, and we are informed that our name is spoken of for that position in different parts of the County. While we thank our friends for their confidence we must decline the proffered honor. We are not—will not be a candidate.

The Republicans of Chowan will meet in Mass Convention at the Court House in Edenton on the 17th inst., for the purpose of nominating a Candidate "Against Convention." The citizens of Chowan are awake on the subject. They are unwilling to allow any tinkering at the organic law at this time. And they are right.

We have complaints from Swan Quarter, Washington, Windsor, Winton, Scuppernong and other points over the Sound that our paper still comes to them via Norfolk, making it three days later than when sent by Edenton. The fault is not ours as we have at three different times directed them sent as requested. We will try again. Our Post Master here informs us that he invariably sends them by way of Edenton

The colored man alluded to in our last, arrested on suspicion of having burned LEIBY's barn, after an examination before His Honor the Mayor, lasting near five days, was released. It is reported that he is a "democratic nigger"—this is the language in which it is put—about the only one in the county. This fact made certain Democrats active in his behalf, procuring counsel also. Of course this was brotherly. And then

"Favors shouldn't be forgot."

The theme is suggestive. We are tempted to make some comments. But we forbear.

Out in tassel and nicely earing—our early corn.

The Methodist District Convention begins its session at Edenton to-day.

The tallest corn we have seen this season is that of our townsman N. R. ZIMMERMAN. It measures 6 feet 4 inches.

A corespondent informs us that the colored people of Plymouth intend to have "a good, old fashioned celebration on the 4th of July." They extend an invitation to their friends in the Eastern part of the state to join them.

Our townsman M. B. CULPEPPER, Esq., Register of Deeds, is also showing ocular evidence of enterprize and good taste by repairing and painting his house. As gentlemen wisely put in practice what the NORTH CAROLINIAN teaches it takes great pleasure in noticing the fact.

The pupils of Mrs. SOPHIE MARTINS School gave a pleasant little entertainment to their friends on Friday evening last in Clark's Hall. The principal exercise was the crowning of Miss Bettie Johnson as "May Queen," with appropriate addresses and music.

Hon. C. L. COBB is home on a flying visit, to remain only a few days His private business engagements will demand his attention at Washington for a short time longer. If his health permits he proposes speaking in different parts of the District and State during the approaching canvas.

The Northern arrivals since our last are THOMAS KIRK from Lumber City, Pa., B. F. STROH from Lock Haven Pa., and Dr. D. T. KREBS from Watsonton Pa. Messrs STROH & KREBS are about to open a first class Merchant Tailoring establishment in one of FOWLERS buildings on Water Street. They mean business.

Warm—the weather. Cooling—MAGEE's Ice. Charming—the Elizabeth City girls. Excellent—those cherry pies we have for dinner. Refreshing—a drink at Dr. BUTTS Soda Fountain. Nice—those pictures at DAWSONS gallery. A little dull—business. Much admired—the Job work done at this office.

A friend has handed us a copy of The Geeley Tribune, published at Greeley, Colorado. It is a neat and spicy sheet, but what strikes one as most unique is its heading, being a scrip title in the fac-simile of the famous chirography of the distinguished HORACE GREELEY. We must ask the Tribune to X.

We have frequently heard the expression "the first and the last," but never until it was practically exemplified by our friend J. C. PERRY did we fully appreciate it. He sent us several baskets of his first picking of strawberries, and a few days ago he sent us a few baskets of his last. A man who with the multiform cares of active business occupying his mind can still find time to think of the Editor "first and last" is certainly a model of his kind. He informs us that he has picked and sold over 400 bushels this season.

By advertisement in this issue of our paper it will be seen that the "Alexina House" at Nag's Head, will be reopened on July 1st. It will also be seen that Mr. JACOBS has been fortunate enough to secure the services of our popular townsman J. M. WHEDBEE, Esq., to take charge of it the present season. This is a guarantee that the House will be kept as it should be, and that guests will be made comfortable. There is certainly no finer bathing in the country, and the sea breeze is peculiarly beneficial to children and invalids. As a summer resort it is not excelled in the United States.

Business Locals.

People are fast finding out the advantage of dealing with Keaton. "I study to please" is his motto. Goods of all kinds for sale.

Whitcomb, the Grocer on Water street, is fast closing out. He is selling at cost. Don't leave it too late or you will miss bargains. Now is the time to buy Groceries, Provisions &c., very cheap.

WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED, NEW ILLUSTRATED EDITION.—As the traveler at the eternal city gazes with rapture upon the wondrous dome, and upon each recurring visit beholds something new, some new feature he had not seen before, so it is with the student of Webster. The oftener one turns over its almost endless pages, the more his admiration is challenged. It would be superfluous to speak in detail of the merits of this great work; yet it would be impossible to say a word too much in its praise.—Charleston (S. C.) Gazette.

DR. TUTT'S CELEBRATED EXPECTORANT—NO MYSTERY HOW IT ACTS.—First it detaches from the bronchial or wind tubes the mucus or matter which sometimes adheres to them with the tenacity of glue. Secondly, It mitigates the pain and removes the constriction of the brouchial tubes and muscles of the chest. Thirdly, It resists the progress of inflammation, and assists the lungs to throw of the irritating matter wich accumulates.

Ho for Nag's Head! Make preparations in time. Secure rooms at the Hotel before they are all engaged. Improvements are about to be made to add to the comfort of guests. A live and very popular man—J. M. Whedbee, Esq., of our town—has been engaged to take charge of the establishment this season. Mr. Jacobs has been fortunate in his selection. We hear of numbers who are going to spend the summer there.

CHARLESTON May 26th, 1871.

There have been no receipts of corn during this week, and the stock is getting light. The demand is good, and we quote the market firm at 90cts., for good white by cargo: Jobbing sales at 93c. bulked and 98 sacked.

R. M. BUTLER & Sons,
Grain Factors.

Several farms and town properties have been purchased by Northern men within the past two weeks.

Mr. MURDEN STOKELY showed us a lot of hen's eggs the other day which were curiosities. They were of the usual shape and size, but the shells were irregular and corrugated on the surface. He accounts for it from the fact of the hen and a mud Drake mating together.

Another fiendish murder, has been committed in this State, an account of which we take from the Weldon News: We learn of a most diabolical outrage perpetrated in Bertie county on Saturday last, which has occasioned much commotion and indignation throughout the county. On the day in question as Mr. James Burden, a prominent and valued citizen, was going from his home to Windsor, a distance of some ten miles, and when about one mile from home, he was twice fired upon by some one, both shots taking effect in the side tearing the arm to pieces and injuring the body so as to doubtless cause immediate death, the wounded man being dead when a friend, traveling the same way and who heard the shots, reached him. The shot found in the person of the dead man had more the appearance of being slugs, and had evidently been moulded for the express purpose by the fiend who perpetrated the deed. The unfortunate man was some forty years of age, has ever borne an excellent character, and was esteemed throughout the county. A white man named Robert Bridges, a rather desperate character, has been arrested on suspicion of being the murderer—it was known that Bridges and the deceased had had some difficulty and the latter had been threatened by him.

A LECTURE. TO YOUNG MEN.

Just Published, in a sealed envelope Price six cents. A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediment to Marriage generally; Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self-Abuse, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renouned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-Abuse may be effectually removed without medicines, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, to any address, in a plain sealed envelope, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps. Also Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the Publishers,

AGRICULTURAL, HORTICULTURAL AND DOMESTIC MATTERS.

The cause of Rust in Wheat.

A correspondent of the Germantown Telegraph writes to that paper on this topic in this wise:

I have before me an article in last week's paper, stating that it is getting to be the pretty general opinion among farmers that the sowing of grass seed, clover or timothy, in the fall with wheat, is the cause of rust in the same, etc.

I beg leave to differ from that article; first, clover is generally sown in the spring in this region of the country at least—the winter would probably destroy it; but timothy is usually sown with the wheat, or close following it. If any person wishes to raise a crop of wheat and rust, I will give him a receipt how to do so. Sow your wheat very late in the fall in order to not get much root, so that the frosts of winter may raise much of it out of the ground and cause it to perish; it will then start in the spring thin, grow rank with a very dark color, and ripen very late. You may then expect a good crop of rust. Yet if it is sown in good season, ground good, plenty of seed, timothy moderate, you may expect as bright straw as any of your neighbors, although they may have sown grass seed or not. Damp or rainy weather is favorable to smut; but that will come if it choose, grass or no. If the wheat is sown early, the timothy need not be so thick a was formerly the custom when sown later; the reason is, it will supply itself with a stronger root. But the grass seed is of high importance, as the wheat crop will barely pay at the present prices of grain, labor machinery, fertilizers, etc.

It is also claimed that grass seed, sown after harvesting the wheat, will produce as good crops the following year as it would if sown with the wheat. Here I differ again, very much as to the timothy, and clover also, if it is sown after the wheat harvest; for we well know that we are very liable to have much dry weather after harvest, that would be much against its taking root; we also know that many weeds and much fall grass, as it is usually termed, would be striving for the mastery, and to smother it out, so that in the following fall or spring, we would have to put on our "specs" perhaps, to find it; and to have a good crop the following season, the chance, I think, would be slim. With even a wet autumn, the fall grasses and other intruders would even more quickly perhaps, choke the newly-sown grasses.

A New Wheat for Southern Farms.

P. A. Boudinier, Louisiana, Mo. says Having been a farmer for a while in Africa, in the proximity of Algiers, I, when there, became thoroughly convinced that for Southern climates the hard wheat, is the most prolific, the most certain. the the most sure among all other varieties of wheat; it has not a superior quality, for it sells a little lower than our tender varieties; but, considering the quantity, the crops will fetch more money. I never have seen it fail, while others of tender sort have been withered and killed before maturity during a warm and sultry season. It withstands the sun of Northern Africa to the end without flinching; therefore I think it would be a good acquisition for the United States, and worth while to try its adaptation in those parts of the Union where wheat cannot succeed on account of too much heat. The hard wheat is so called, because its straw is hard, stiff, being filled like aush rnd hence not hollow like other kinds, but the grain is no harder than any other sorts; its straw being more substantial permits it to stand up in places where others will lodge and rot on the ground; its heads are bearded and consequently resist the depredations of ants when there are any, like in Africa. The bread made therefrom is good, sweetish, and nutritious, principally in the form of biscuit, like it is done among the peasantry; but bakers do not favor its flour for the reason that the fermentation is not so lively as in other varieties.

DRENCHING HORSES.—In the Country Gentleman Wm. Strong, of Michigan, commenting on the practice of drenching horses, remarks:

Pouring medicine down the neck of the horse was discontinued years ago by the best veterinary surgeons in the world, because always dangerous, and very often fatal. But the question is asked, How is it that giving a drench is so dangerous?

The throat of the horse is so constructed that it is almost impossible to give him a drench without some of it getting into his windpipe, and from thence into his lungs, when it may kill him on the spot; he may live for days, or even years, and then die from disease of the lungs, caused by the drench.

From the foregoing, it will be seen that great caution is not only necessary in getting the right kind of medicine, but also in the manner of administering it. Better, far better, to do nothing at all, then to go blindly at work and ruin the poor horse, when many times, he would get entirely well if let alone.

TO MAKE COWS GIVE MILK.—The agricultural editor of the Bee-Keeper's Journal vouches for the following, handed him by a friend: If you desire to get a large yield of milk, give your cows three times a day water slightly warm, slightly salted, in which bran has been stirred in the proportion of one quart to two gallons of water. Kou will gain twenty-five per cent. immediately under the effects of it, and she will becomo so attached to the diet as to refuse to drink clear water unless very thirsty, but this mess she will drink at almost any time, and ask for more. The amount of this drink is an ordinary water pail at each time, morning, noon, and night. Your animal will then do her best at discounting the lacteal.

The Louisville Ledger condemns Vallandigham's new departure in set terms. It asserts that his great weakness is overweening vanity, and that the fact that the people decided him unfit for a leader has made him sour and almost desperate. Early in the war, it says, he sought martyrdom for the sake of notoriety, and thus lost to the Democracy the North-west; and now, with his long, wordy and windy resolutions, which, when analyzed, contain very little that is new, he had better stand aside and permit the Democracy, unobstructed, to take its position on the Kentucky platform.

CUR-IOUS AFFAIR.—Jim Scroggins, of doubtful honesty, attempted to call upon a neighbor late one night last week, and was received at the gate with due curtesy by a large dog kept on the premises. After some cur-sory remarks by the dog, cur tailed by Jim's impatience to be gone, both withdrew, Jim cur-sing and swearing, at the dog about as usual. Jim said of his pants next day that they were a "darned old pair!"

The Marquis of Westmeath died recently in England. He served in the expedition to Egypt in 1801, and was a rigid Conservative.

The will of Senator Howard, which has been admitted to probate in Detroit, Mich., shows his entire property to be worth only $50,000. It was supposed to be much larger.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL.

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalists and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where; and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equal it.

A railroad will soon be built to Weldon, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A Steam Saw and Grist Mill in the town of Nixonton 8 miles from E. City. This Mill has a fine wharf and store attached on deep navigable water, the engine is 40 horse power, and all in good order. It is one of the finest locations to be found any where for custom work, and for getting good saw logs easily and cheaply. Price $4,000 cash.

Adjoining the mill property is 40 acres of fine land on the River, with three houses. all for $1200. Near the same is a good two story dwelling and 13 acres of land for $2,000, and a good one story dwelling, with one acre of land for $300.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotank county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church. school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Also one other tract in Pasquotank county, containing 116 acres, within one mile of the town with fine buildings, mostly cleared and in cultivation. Price $25 per acre, one half cash, balance in 12 months.

A valuable site for a hotel at Nag's Head, 40 miles from Elizabeth City, and 50 miles from Edenton. This is situated immediately on the Ocean, and is a famous Summer resort for invalids, and those seeking health, comfort, and amusements during the summer months. It is in direct communication by steamboats and railroad with all parts of North Carolina, Virginia, and the North; and is equal in natural advantages to Newport, or Cape May. Visitors flock to this famous summer resort by hundreds and thousands, and a large amount of money can be made by a hotel. A charter has been obtained from the Legislature of N. C., for a joint stock company to build the hotel. There is now an old hotel on the spot, which could be cheaply repaired and bought for $3.000. This hotel, though imperfectly kept, cleared the proprietor last season, over $3.000. For a man or a company, having some capital, this is one of the finest chances to make money at hotel keeping to be found anywhere. The early attention of the public is invited to this property.

A fine steam saw and grist mill at Hertford, the county seat of Perquimans County, N. C., 18 miles from Elizabeth City. This mill has a fifty horse power engine, now in good running, two pairs of best French burr stones, and two upright saws. The house has a brick basement, and the building is large and in good order. There is one and a half acres of land belonging to this property, and a good two story dwelling, and other out-houses. The section of country adjacent abounds in the finest yellow pine, cypress, ash, poplar, and other valuable timber. This property originally cost $15,000, and is now offered at forced sale for the low price of $3.500, $7.00, cash, and the balance in six equal instalments, six months apart each with interest.

A fine farm and fishery in same county. The farm contains 400 acres of the finest land, lies immediately on Albemarle Sound where the water is 12 miles wide, and 18 to 20 feet deep, has got buildings, and fine neighborhood. The fishery is on the farm and goes with it. It has a new seine 2,500 yards long, and all the necessary boats, buildings, &c., (which cost over $15,000 two years ago.) The fishery alone, of a good season, will make from 5 to $10,000 profit to the owner. This property is offered at forced sale for the low price of $20,000, $7,000 cash, balance on easy times.

A store at South Mills, in Camden county, 20 miles from E. City, and 20 miles from Norfolk, lying on the canal where steamers pass daily. A fine chance for merchandize. Store is large with dwelling above containing six rooms, is in first rate order, has office, kitchen, dairy, and other necessary outhouses. Goods to the amt. of $50,000 per annum can be sold here, and at large profits. A splended stand for a country retail store. Price $2,500—one third cash, balance in one and two years.

A valuable tract of land in Camden county, at South Mills, on the Dismal Swamp Canal, lying on the canal for two miles, containing over 900 acres of land—two-thirds cleared, and in a fine state of cultivation, with good buildings, &c.; balance in valuable timber. Price $12,000, one-third cash, balance in one and two years, interest from January, 1871. This is a valuable farm for corn, wheat, and vegetables, and being midway between Elizabeth City and Norfolk, and located where steamers pass by the door daily, is a desirable and cheap property.

A fine farm of 600 acres within six miles of E. City, one mile from navigable water, and the best cotton farm in the State. It is also well adapted to raising corn and wheat. This farm has a splended two-story dwelling upon it, large barn, 40 by 60 feet, a large number of outhouses, by splended trees and shrubbery, is in a strong Union neighborhood, and altogether the most desirable place in the county. A little over one-half of this land is cleared, and the balance is covered with the finest yellow pine, popler, ash and other timber. Price $30 per acre—one-third cash, balance in one and two years with interest. Title reserved.

A valuable small farm ¾ of a mile from E. City, containing about 47 acres all cleared but about 6 acres, and in a good state of improvement. Lies high, well drained, medium buildings, a good well of water. A very desirable property. Price $50 per acre in payments. Possession given Jan'y. 1st 1871.

Sixteen houses and lots in Elizabeth City, with good dwellings, out-houses, &c. Prices and terms reasonable.

A valuable farm in Perquimans county, N. C. near navigable water. Has a fine dwelling-house with ten rooms, in splended order, with splended barns and stables—all in first rate order. The farm is very productive in corn, oats, wheat, cotton and clover. It is one of the finest farms in the State and is now in good cultiuation, contains 585 acres of land, about three-fourths cleared and under cultiuation. Price $10,000, one-third cash January 1, next balance in two equal annual instalments with interest at the rate of six per cent.

A farm of 370 acres 8 miles from town by water, and 12 miles by land, is offered for sale for $10,000 in easy payments. This tract of land lies immediately on the River which is 4 miles wide and washes the farm its whole length on one side, and a branch of the River one mile wide, binds it on one end. The land is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, peas, &c., lies high and dry, and is susceptible of the highest improvement. Fronting and looking over, as it does, two large sheets of navigable water, where steamers and sailing vessels are constantly passing, carrying freight and passengers to all parts of the country, its location and surroundings, are of the most fascinating and desirable character. There is a fishery on it ready for working a seine 2,500 yards long, and which commands a portion of both streams of water, and can be made immensely profitable. The price charged is low, and the purchase a very desirable one. The buildings consist of a good two-story dwelling and out-houses.

A tract of valuable land, containing 356 acres, with fine two story dwelling containing 9 rooms and cook-room. Servant's house with 3 rooms, large barns and stables, all necessary and convenient out-houses, 3 tenant-houses near town, and immediately on the River. About 100 acres of this land is in fine wood and timber, balance in a fine state of cultivation. It has 8,000 grape vines one year old, 3,500 peach, apple and dwarf pear trees, five acres in strawberries which yielded an immence profit this year, ten acres in Lawton and other rare varieties of black-berries, 15 to 20,000 young peach trees with other choice fruits too numerous to mention. This farm has a public road on one side, and the River on the other, where strangers come daily to the landings to receive the fruits and vegetables, and carry them down to Norfolk, Baltimore, Phila., or New York. The land is finely adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, and all other field crops.

The owner of this farm offers to sell in tracts, to suit purchasers, say in 50 to 100 acre tracts, and at prices ranging from 35 to $80 per acre, according to location, buildings, &c.

There is also on this farm a fine fishery, where a seine 1,000 yards long, aud 20 feet deep is hauled every Spring. Herring, Shad, Rock-fish, Sturgeon and other valuable fish, are caught by thousands at every draw of the seine. And the profits are frequently large. This fishery of itself is worth nearly as much as is charged for the whole property. The terms will be liberal. This is probably the finest opportunity offered any where for a profitable investment.

☞ Fishery has an office, and two houses for hands besides fish house. Then some 500 to 1,000 loads of best fish manure on hand, besides over 5,000 loads of compost made ready for use. This goes with the farm.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

Another valuable tract of land iu Pasquotank county one mile from the town, on the river, and containing 156 acres. Good dwelling house and other outbuildings. Land fine. About 120 acres cleared, balance in wood and timber. This farm is surrounded by parties from the North who have purchased all the land adjoining. Price $35,00 per acre, one half cash, balance in 12 and 18 months with interest.

TO SPORTSMEN.—

The subscriber would announce to his friends and the public that he continues at the old stand on Road street and keeps on hand a good assortment of Guns, Rifles, Pistols, Sporting apparatus and fine cutlery, He may at all times be found either in his store prepared to accommodate customers with New Goods, or in his shop adjoining, willing and happy to repair any article in his line of business.

29—1y. GEO. W. BELL.

HAVING SECURED THE SERVICES OF THE best mechanics in each of the departments, and giving my own particular attention to all work done at my shop, I feel safe in saying that my work will compare favorably with that of any of the large cities. All I ask is an examination of my work to convince those in want of any kind of a vehicle that this is the place to buy them.

Repairing done at short notice and at reasonable rates. Give me a call.

BONE DUST.—

The subscriber has just erected at his Farm, near the city, the most improved machinery for making BONE DUST, and is now ready to fill orders for any quantity, which will be delivered at the shortest notice.

The BONE DUST will be finer than any heretofore made by him, (no chemical process resorted to,) enabling the Farmer or Planter to sow it with a Drill.

Mr. Samuel Sands, well known to the Farmers and Planters of the United States as the former Editor of the "American Farmer and Rural Register," will have charge of his office, NO. 63 S. GAY STREET, near Pratt, and will be happy to receive the visits or orders of his old friends.

$45 per ton, put in new bags. No charge for bags.

Farmers and others are invited to visit my works. I have nothing to conceal.

My men have nothing nice to perform, therefore I have no "non-admittance" signs on my premises. Persons are free to examine my factory, and the modus operandi of Dust making.

I cannot afford to pay 5, 10 or 20 per cent. to commission merchants, as my profits do not exceed 10 per cent.

Bone Dust, as manufacured by me, is A simple, and its quality cannot be made to conform to the price.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE LAND AND LUMBER COMPANY having a large amount of Real Estate of their own to dispose of, and their business having increased to such an extent, they think it prudent to decline acting further as Commission Agents for the sale of lands belonging to others. They will however be glad at all times to furnish every facility to parties coming to Elizabeth City with a desire to look at the country and make purchases if they find it to their interest to do so.

The following list of property, owned by the Company, is offered for sale on the most reasonable terms. Their object now is to acquire a larger monied capital for the purpose of further developing their unimproved lands and carrying out their original design of increasing the Commerce and General Trade of Elizabeth City.

As there are others in the Commission Business, parties are referred to their advertisement for further information.

ELIZABETH CITY.

The following desirable list of Properties in Elizabeth City are offered at very reduced prices for cash or on time payments at rates which make any of them excellent investments for capitalists. We feel confident that this City is destined to become a large place and property will advance rapidly. Emigration is now tending Southernward and the feeling is in universal favor toward Elizabeth City.

A large two-story dwelling known as the Parsonage, with fine double Piazza, front and back, large out kitchen, stables, carriage house, with 17 acres of ground well enclosed. This ground is all within the corporation of the City, and is well situated to lay out in building lots and make out of it ten fold the price asked for it.

A two-story dwelling containing ten rooms, 10,000 gallon cistern and all necessary out-houses, with large lot. Situated on Main Street. A Vacant Lot no better located and not so large as this was sold recently for $1600 cash.

A large brick store honse and wharf situate on Water street; in E. City, comprising three lots with 400 leet of water front. permanently wharfed for the accommodation of large vessels. There is erected on these lots a large two-story brick building, 50 by 80 feet, well fitted up for a wholesale or retail trade at present occupied by the "Yankee Store."

A large wood store on west side of Water street 36 by 60, two stories high, being one of the best stands on Water street for merchandizing.

A House and Lot on Riverside Avenue. House 20ft front by 50 ft deep. Containing eight rooms with Pantry and Cellar, all well finished. modern style, and having all necessary out buildings. The lot contains a front of 400 ft, and would be a good location for a large shop or foundry as one whole side fronts on the water.

Also a large number of Wharf Lots, Mill Lots and Vacant Lots at very low prices, some of which are enumerated below. The Wharf Lots are 200ft deep and will be sold to any size desired along the River. Among them are some most eligible situations for Store Houses, Mills and Manufactories of any kind as there is a fine harbor immediately in front of them, having 30ft of water, sufficient for vessels of any capacity. Along Pennsylvania Avenue are offered some of the finest and choicest lots, for dwellings in town at prices varying according to location. This will be the finest street in town, is 80 feet wide, size of Lot 100ft front by 200ft deep. There are now a number of first class residences being erected on this street. Immediately in the uicinity of these Lots the Company have erected a large Planing Mill, Sash, Blind and Door Factory at a cost of near $20.000 and also their Saw Mill at a cost of near $15,000. That now is the proper time to invest in those Lots there can be no doubt, as they will double in value in a very short time. Lots not near so good as these, are now selling in other parts of the City at more than double the price asked for these.

VACANT LOTS.

Lots Nos. 150, 155, 158, 161, 163, 165, 167, 170. 172. 175, 178, 180, 182. 185, 187. 190' 193, 195, 198 and 200, situate on Pennsylvania avenue, in the new extension of Elizabeth City, all choice lots, intended for the better class of residences. Size of lots 100 feet front by 200 feet deep. Price varying, according to location, from $100 to $1000.

TOWN LOTS.

Lots Nos. 250, 253, 255, 256, 258, 261, 263, 266, 267, 268, 271, 283, 285. 287, 288, 289, 291, 296, 299 and 300, situated on various Streets in the new extension of Elizabeth City, size of lots 50 feet front. by 100 feet deep, at prices varying from $25 to $100.

MILL LOTS.

Four Mill-Lots situated on Knobb's Creek, so that logs can be taken from the creek to the mill. These lots have 200 feet each of water front. and over 600 feet deep to Mill street, and are choice sites. The purchaser will also have the right of storage for logs in the boom.

PASQUOTANK COUNTY.

The Land and Lumber Company also offer for sale, one thousand acres of their timbered land along the Main Road leading from Elizabeth City to Hertford and Edenton, Said land heavily wooded, soil very rich and about four miles from Elizabeth City. This land will be sold in lots to suit purchasers and at the low price of ten dollars per acre.

They also offer a tract of three thousand acres in Lots to suit purchasers, near the Pasquotank River, ten miles from Elizabeth City and three miles from South Mills. This land is heavily set with wood and also has upon it a vast amount of saw timber, and has a most excellent soil. This is a fine location for a small Colony. There is now a Public Road running directly through it. This tract is offered at the low price of eight dollars per acre if sold to one party, or at only a fraction more if divided into small lots.

The Company will also sell their farm of 250 acres two miles from Elizabeth City. 125 acres cleared and under good cultivation, well fenced, having upon it two dwelling houses, one new and the necessary out buildinos wanted on a farm, and will be sold on very reasonable terms.

Also another farm one mile from Elizabeth City containing one hundred acres, between thirty and forty acres cleared and under cultivation, the balance is now being cut off and is nearly ready to be cleared up and cultiuated. This property is very desirable being so near the City though for reasons first given will be sold at a very low price.

We have a finely timbered tract of land situated on the Albemarle Sound twenty miles from Elizabeth City, containing 124 acres. Good timber land bordering on the water is valuable both for wood as well as saw timber as water trausportation affords a good margin for wood, say one dollar per cord. This will also make good farm land—will be sold for one thousand dollars.

Also one other tract of land containing 154 acres situated immediately on the Pasquotank River ten miles from Elizabeth City, valuable for wood, and is excellent farming lands, would be sold for six dollars per acre.

GATES COUNTY.

The Land & Lumber Company have a tract of 350 acres of timbered land one half mile from Chowan River and three miles from Winton the county seat of Hertford county. This body of land is well timbered and will be sold at the low price of three dollars per acre.

☞ The most direct and cheapest route is to go to Baltimore by N. C. R. R., then Bay Line steamer to Norfolk, Va., then steamer to Elizabeth City, N. C.

THE CHEAP STOVE STORE,
No. 4 WIDE WATER STREET,
NORFOLK, VIRGINIA.
Having the largest and most complete assortment of Cook and Heating Stoves to be found south of Baltimore, I can offer inducements to buyers which cannot be found elsewhere. Parties in want of stoves will find it to their interest to give us a call before purchasing, as I am determined to sell as low as the Northern cities. Every stove sold by me warranted, and if it does not prove as represented, the money will be returned. (Forty-five pieces of furniture with each cook stove.)
I have also on hand a full stock of Tin Ware, Japanned Ware, Lamp Goods of all kind, Toilet Ware. &c., wholesale and retail.

NATURE'S HAIR RESTORATIVE

Contains no Lac Sulphur—No Sugar of Lead—No Litharge—No Nitrate of Silver, and is entirely free from the Poisonous and Health-destroying Drugs used in other Hair Preparations.

Transparent and clear as crystal, it will not soil the finest fabric—perfectly SAFE, CLEAN and EFFICIENT—desideratums LONG SOUGHT FOR AND FOUND AT LAST!

It restores and prevents the Hair from becoming Gray, imparts a soft, glossy appearance, removes Dandruff, is cool and refreshing to the head, checks the Hair from falling off, and restores it to a great extent when prematurely lost, prevents Headaches, cures all Humors, cutaneous eruptions, and unnatural Heat. AS A DRESSING FOR THE HAIR IT IS THE BEST ARTICLE IN THE MARKET.

DR. G. SMITH, Patentee, Groton Junction, Mass. Prepared only by PROCTER BROTHERS, Gloucester, Mass. The Genuine is put up in a panel bottle, made expressly for it, with the name of the article blown in the glass. Ask your Druggist for Nature's Hair Restorative, and take no other.

Send a three cent stamp to Procter Bros for a Treatise on the Human Hair. The information it contains is worth $500 to any person.
